Classe: 4F
Materia: Inglese
Prof. Massenzio Angela

Programma Svolto

Textbooks:
1) "It's Literature", vol. 1, Martelli, Bruschi, Nigra, Rizzoli Languages.
2) "Venture into First", AAVV, OUP.

1) "It's Literature"

- The Renaissance, Historical and literary background
- Elizabeth I and the "Armada Portrait";
- The Elizabethan sonnet: structure and functions.
Edmund Spenser:
- " Ye Tradeful Merchants"
 William Shakespeare:
- "My Mistress' eyes". A comparison with Petrarch and Spenser.
- "When in disgrace with Fortune"
- "Let me not to the marriage of true minds"
- "When my love swears that she is made of truth"

- The origins of the theatre
- Drama as a literary genre. The features of a dramatic text.
- William Shakespeare: "Romeo and Juliet": plot, themes, setting, main characters.
- 'The Prologue'
- 'Is she a Capulet?'
- 'What's in a name?'
- William Shakespeare: "Hamlet": the plot, the characters, the play within the play, the themes, the revenge tragedy and the modern hero.
-'Look, my Lord, it comes';
-'To be or not to be'
-'There's a special providence in the fall of a sparrow'.

- The Puritan Age: Historical and Literary Background
- John Milton: "Paradise Lost"
- Free will and individual responsibility in the Puritan perspective.
- 'Satan's speech'
- 'Adam's speech'

- The Restoration and The Royal Society
- The Augustan Age, literary background

- The rise of the novel
- Fiction as a literary genre

- Daniel Defoe:
-"Crusoe considers his condition";
- "I taught him to say master".
- The new middle-class hero.
- Milton's Satan and Defoe's Robinson: a comparison.
- "Robinson Crusoe and empirical science".

   2) "Venture into First": units 7, 8, 9, 10, 11.

- personal and impersonal passive structures with say, know, believe, consider;
- should and ought to;
- reported speech; reported statements; reported questions; reporting verbs;
- defining and non-defining relative clauses;
- causative verbs;
- zero, first, second, third type conditionals;
- mixed conditionals;
- wish/ if only;
- vocabulary and phrasal verbs units 7-11.

Torino, 8 Giugno 2021

L'insegnante
Angela Massenzio   I rappresentanti di classe

                                    ....

....

                                    ....